

Singapore Management University

Institutional Knowledge at Singapore Management University

Research Collection Yong Pung How School Of Law

Yong Pung How School of Law

2-2021

Recommendations to develop International Commercial Mediation in Singapore

Nadja ALEXANDER

Singapore Management University, nadjaa@smu.edu.sg

Follow this and additional works at: https://ink.library.smu.edu.sg/sol_research

Part of the Asian Studies Commons, and the Dispute Resolution and Arbitration Commons

Citation

ALEXANDER, Nadja. Recommendations to develop International Commercial Mediation in Singapore. (2021).

Available at: https://ink.library.smu.edu.sg/sol_research/3331

This Blog Post is brought to you for free and open access by the Yong Pung How School of Law at Institutional Knowledge at Singapore Management University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Research Collection Yong Pung How School Of Law by an authorized administrator of Institutional Knowledge at Singapore Management University. For more information, please email cherylds@smu.edu.sg.

Recommendations to develop International Commercial Mediation in Singapore

Nadja Alexander (Editor) (Singapore International Dispute Resolution Academy)/December 5, 2013

So, dear Readers,

This time last year I was telling you about new mediation initiatives in Hong Kong. Well, this year I hope to send you into the festive season with some very exciting news from Singapore.

On 3 December 2013, Singapore's Ministry of Law unveiled key initiatives to transform and develop its international commercial mediation sector. Based on recommendations of a Working Group established in April 2013 by Singapore's Chief Justice and the Ministry, the recommendations include the establishment of two new independent mediation entities: a new professional mediation body (the "Singapore International Mediation Institute"), and a new international mediation service provider (the "Singapore International Mediation Centre").

The Ministry of Law's press release contains a summary of recommendations.

More on this in the New Year. Best wishes to each and every one of you for the festive season!